TECHNICAL MANAGEMENT & CREW RECRUITMENT

Adventure Offshore places a high premium on the recruitment process. For any ship board organization to be successful, the vital steps involves the hiring of qualified, dedicated seafarers. This is a firm belief we share, and our approach starts with a strategic search , constantly keeping our focus for well qualified Ghanaian deck and engine officers and ratings of all rank for diverse offshore and ocean going vessels who thrive on challenge and adapt well on international environment. We seek out strong candidates with strong leadership skills and traits,backed by solid professional experience .

1. Our team follows stringent screening process an procedures. We undertake extensive background checks and vetting to confirm that our seafarers have integrity, and are conscientious to fulfill their duties while on the vessel. Another key integral component of our screening process is crew certificate compliance.We check crew certificates and documents for authenticity , making sure they have received the required training prior going on board.

2. Our competency Assessment conducted by our team of well trained ex chief engineers and Masters to assess technical and communications competencies through testing and during interview has developed robust and rigorous guidelines to evaluate candidates based on the high standards set by the international shipping industry, the same dedication ADventure offshore embodies.

3. We have developed and exciting cadet program with the selection of marine cadets from the well regarded Regional Maritime University in Ghana. Our recruitment and training personnel rigorously and meticulously oversee the selection process. They ensure cadets undergo courses and training that compliments their completed degree to prepare them better before they are sent out to man vessels of our clients and principals. We do also conduct specifically designed training on soft skills development. By doing this ,we ensure that our cadets have a holistic approach to discharging diligently their seafaring duties .
